Welcome to the
Indiana PBL Collaborative Network

LAUNCHING A STATE WIDE PBL NETWORK

The Indiana PBL Collaborative is a state wide network comprised of representatives from schools, non-profits, k-16 educational institutions and business partners who are committed to transforming education through the implementation of project-based learning. The newest of the group is northern Indiana who has joined as an active and vibrant group of PBL educators. The network itself was established in 2009 with CELL, IMLEA, Buddy Project and several middle level educators. Currently the network brings together PBL educators across the entire state of Indiana. See list of partners below.

Who should attend?

Teacher's k-12, administrators, higher education and business partners.

Why attend?
